DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It Seems to Be a Little Too Ominous for Father

BY F. LEIPZIGER

ORDER IN ADVANCE

Thanksgiving Day its joys will spread before us, with a genial thrill. Although the Dove of Peace has fled, We have the Turkey with us still.

When the family gathers for its Thanksgiving Day feast—when relatives and friends come from near and from far to enjoy your hospitality—you should have on hand something extra good to "top off" the turkey, aid in digesting an unusually hearty meal and induce merriment in the festive gathering. Be sure it is either

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1413-1418—A Jaunty Suit for Early Fall.

Coat 1413. Skirt 1418. Plaid Suiting is here shown in brown tones, with facings of tan faille on collar and pockets. The coat is loose fitting, and finished with a smart collar. The skirt has graceful attractive lines, with plaited fulness at the sides. The pockets may be omitted. It will require 2 1/2 yards of 44 inch material to make the coat for a medium size. The coat pattern 1413, is cut in 3 sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. The skirt pattern 1418, is cut in the same sizes, and requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material. It measures about 3 yards at the foot. In blue broad cloth with black, or white satin facings this would make a smart street suit. This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

Claimed Kingston as Home.

Judge Brady's memory for faces came in good again in Albany on Thursday, when Policeman Church arrested Thomas Coogan, who said he hailed from Kingston, on a charge of having been drunk the previous night. "You formerly lived here, did you not?" asked the magistrate, and Coogan replied that he did. The

are so often subject to headache—are languid, pale and nervous—because their blood is thin or insufficient. They are not really sick and hesitate to complain, but they lack that ambition and vivacity which is their birthright. They do not need drugs—but do need the tonic and nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that makes richer blood, fills hollow cheeks, suppresses nervousness and establishes strength. Nourishment alone makes blood and Scott's Emulsion is the essence of concentrated nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or opiates.

If mother or daughter is frail, pale or nervous, give her Scott's for one month and see the betterment. It has a wholesome, "nutty" flavor. Avoid substitutes. At any drug store.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N.J. 15-24

court then inquired where Coogan's wife and two boys were living, and he said he guessed they were located somewhere on Livingston avenue. He admitted he had contributed nothing to their support in the past three years, and tried to justify himself by saying that he was not supposed to have anything to do with his wife, they having separated. Coogan was committed for further examination.

Clear Aid to Stand Trial.

Justice A. S. Tompkins, in New City, has denied a motion of Josiah Felter, supervisor of Haverstraw, to dismiss the indictment against him charging grand larceny. Felter was indicted with W. V. Cleary, who killed his son-in-law, Gene Newman. Felter was accused of depositing town money to his personal account and lending it to Cleary.

Preparedness and Thanksgiving.

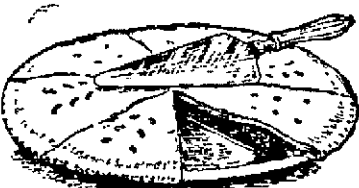

Henry A. Wise Wood, member of a committee on national preparedness, has addressed a letter to prominent clergymen throughout the country, asking them to discuss preparedness in their Thanksgiving Day sermons, and suggesting that "the immediate building up of an adequate system of defense will avert the crime of war by which the works of religion are undone and its institutions destroyed."

American Dyes Increase.

Important increases in the production of coal dyes in the United States since the beginning of the European war, are reported by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Nearly all American coke ovens are equipped to produce the coal tar bases from which dyes are manufactured.

Fingers Caught in Press.

Perry Myer, employed by the Sauerbrey Manufacturing Co., had the fingers on his left hand lacerated and bruised severely while at work Wednesday when they became caught in a book press. Dr. Diedling dressed the injuries.

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and insistent idea of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

Located in the Heart of Things, only a golf stroke from the Pennsylvania Depot. On Broadway's throbbing centre. The Martinique is the logical New York home for those on business or pleasure bent.

Distinction of Little Worth.

The gray wolf's distinction is that his scalp is worth five dollars, while that of the coyote brings only one dollar. Most of the distinctions are as worthless to those who hold them as the bounty on his scalp is to the gray wolf.

History Repeats Itself.

Not long since a restaurant was started on Tenth street just north of Market. It was called "The Napoleon," and the same was on the window in large letters. When the place failed not long after starting, some cruel wag chalked under the word "Napoleon" at Waterloo. Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Tied by Prejudices.

The confirmed prejudices of a thoughtful life are as hard to change as the confirmed habits of an indolent life; and as some must trifle away age, because they trifled away youth, others must labor on in a maze of error, because they have wandered there too long to find their way out. Bolingbroke.

Delicate Hint.

Borroughs—"I knew a man who looks so much like you that one could hardly tell you apart." Lenders—"You haven't paid him that five I lent you three months ago, have you?" Boston Transcript.

Degeneration.

Smugg—"Say, Jiggs. Who are those three gentlemen standing at the conservatory entrance?" Jiggs—"Why, they represent three generations. The ruddy old man with the bald head of hair, Bugs—the thin-haired one next to him is his son, and the dissipated fellow with the bald head is the grandson."—National Monthly.

"Hypocrisy."

Nothing is more unjust, however common, than to charge with hypocrisy him that expresses zeal for those virtues which he neglects to practice; since he may be sincerely convinced of the advantage of conquering his vices as a man may be confident of the advantage of a voyage or a journey, without having courage or industry to undertake it and may honestly recommend to others those attempts which he neglects himself. Johnson.

NEVER TO BUSY

Alert merchants are never too busy to see "traveling salesmen."

They may not buy, but they want to take a minute to look.

There may be something they don't need—something they don't want to overlook.

Advertising is like the traveling salesman showing his wares.

Perhaps you do not want the copy, but it pays you to look.

Reading keeps you informed of the market and what prices prevail.

That knowledge is valuable when the times does come to you.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 22, 1915.

"Prosperity dinners" are quite the fashion now. They have had one in New York City, and smaller towns have given or are about to give imitations of it. In addition, a number of more or less prominent men are being quoted in the newspapers as expressing very optimistic views of the business situation. If there is anything in the President's "psychological" theory, all this talk ought to give business quite a boost. In fact, it may boost it too much. The time has not yet come for branching out too widely. Prudence should remain the watchword for some time to come. It is true that this year's crops have been unprecedentedly big, increasing the purchasing power of the farmers, who are the backbone of business prosperity. It is also true that our exports are so big in proportion to our imports that money is a drug on the market, so that it is easy to get credit and the temptation to inflation is great. Nevertheless, there are dangers ahead. Suppose the war should end suddenly, what would happen? The belligerent Governments practically control all industries in their hands, and, as Congressman Bennett pointed out in a recent speech, they are quite likely to set their soldiers to manning the factories at soldiers' wages instead of turning them loose to look for jobs which would be hard to find. How would our manufacturers like to compete with goods produced in that way? Even if we turn the Democrats out of office next November, it will be well on toward three years from now before we can get a tariff which will protect our capitalists. Good times are coming, but those who are too eager to meet them are likely to get hurt.

"It is fitting that there should be a national memorial of the late William McKinley," observes the New York Herald, "and its dedication in his birthplace, Niles, Ohio, on Saturday will recall anew the splendid character of this great American." The Herald is mistaken about the memorial being dedicated, the ceremonies on Saturday having been held in connection with the laying of a cornerstone of a building that is to be the memorial. The structure is to be of marble and will cost a quarter of a million dollars, all contributed by friends and admirers of the murdered President. This is not a "national memorial," the term usually is understood, since Congress has not appropriated a dollar toward the project. Rather is it a memorial from the common people and from manufacturers and other business men in expression of their esteem for McKinley and their faith in the protective tariff, of which McKinley for so many years was the foremost advocate and a rough which, with the aid of a Republican Congress, prosperity was restored after the industrial depression of the second Cleveland administration. The McKinley memorial will be dedicated next fall, when it is hoped history will repeat itself and the cause of protection be again triumphant after four years of business blight under low tariff.

The Rev. Frederick M. Davenport, Progressive candidate for governor last year, have announced his return to the Republican fold. Some Republicans in Dutchess county have started a movement to have him elected a state committeeman next April, contending that to honor him in this way would be a gracious thing for the Republican party to do and that it would appeal to and be appreciated by outside Progressive voters who have followed back into the old party. "Next on a new season," Ward R. Edwards of Ulster has announced his candidacy for the State Committee in opposition to Davenport, saying Republicans are glad to welcome the latter back but "are not prepared to give him the driver's seat on the band wagon." The dominie as head of the Bull Moose ticket in 1914 did his best in an indirect way to "maintain Tammany government in the State. His candidacy was aimed directly at Charles S. Whitman, Republican candidate, and in his speeches through the State he appealed for a continuance of the party split. All the time he knew he had no chance to be elected. Davenport, who as a Progressive advocated policies at variance with Republican principles, must expect to pass through a period of probation as a Republican before he can be received into the state councils of the party he so recently opposed.

Recent reports of railroads show a material gain in receipts, due to increased traffic and a raise in rates, the latter obtained through the Interstate Commerce Commission after a long struggle. The granting of increased wages to employees and the added expense under "full crew" laws had placed the railroads in a position where outlays began to equal receipts and some of the weaker roads faced bankruptcy. Having obtained a measure of relief, the railroads have taken care of their financing advantageously, and an increasing number of orders for equipment have been placed in late months. Now comes the announced intention of railroad brotherhoods to demand on March 1 next an eight-hour day with ten-hour pay for the railroad employee. There will be conferences, threats of strikes and probably compromises, with the railroads coming out second best as usual. Apparently the railroad situation from a financial standpoint will become more acute than ever and the entire problem of rates will have to be gone over again. In the end, the public will have to pay the piper. The government controls closely the revenue of the railroads, but is unable to give them any protection from wage demands which steadily become more frequent and insistent.

National Guard officers of the United States, in conference in San Francisco, went on record against the administration's plan for a "central army" and voted for an amendment to the federal constitution making the militia available at the call of the President for duty within or outside the country to the same extent as the regular military establishment, reserving to the states the control of the militia in time of peace. In the preparations for national defense, the states can and should do their part by adding to their National Guard strength, but it is important that the militia should be given a definite national status as above indicated. Furthermore, the guardsmen should receive pay for the time they spend in drills and small arms practice. As it is, they actually are under expense and thereby are penalized for the service they so patriotically volunteer to the state. The passage of the militia pay bill, long pending in Congress, would encourage recruiting and enable the states to develop large well-equipped and well-trained forces available either for the support of the regulars or for the "first line" in the proposed "citizenry" army.

Rifton Mills in the Market.

The end of the carpet industry in Ulster, so far as the J. W. Dimick Co. is concerned, is seen in an advertisement in New York papers offering the carpet mill and the worsted spinning and yarn mills for sale. There are 12,000 square feet of floor space, steam heated and electric lighted. Included in the property are 80 acres of land and tenant houses for employees.

Rifton at this time presents a rather desolate appearance, the windows and doors of many of the houses being boarded up. The Rifton plant would be a good proposition for some concern, as the water power in the Wallkill is a valuable asset.

CAPT. J. H. TREMPER DIED ON SATURDAY

Steamboat Owner and Captain, Member of Assembly and Active in Business, Social and Political Field For Many Years.

Captain Jacob H. Tremper, for many years one of the best known steamboat men along the Hudson river, died Saturday evening at his home, No. 196 Albany avenue, aged 66 years.

Captain Tremper's health for several years had not been robust, and on several occasions he passed through severe illnesses. For the past year he had been under the care of a physician and improved in condition.

CAPT. J. H. TREMPER.

The history of steamboat navigation on the Hudson river would be incomplete without consideration of the part played in it by the Tremper family. Captain Tremper's father, whose name was also Jacob H. Tremper, established a steamboat business on the Hudson in 1846 in conjunction with William F. Romer of Kingston. The line was known as the Romer & Tremper Steamboat Company and began operation of boats plying between Rondout and New York. Later a line was operated between Newburgh and New York and a line also was operated between Newburgh and Albany.

The elder Captain Tremper was in command of one of the company's steamers during practically all of the time from the formation of the company until his own death. During part of that time his son, Captain Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., conducted the Tremper House at Phoenixia, which had been erected in 1878 and was one of the first of the large summer hotels to be erected in the Ulster county section of the Catskill mountains.

The death of the founders of the steamboat company resulted in Captain Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., engaging actively in the business of his father, William F. Romer, one of the founders, died in 1881 and the elder Captain Tremper died in 1888. Myron Teller succeeded Mr. Romer in the active management of the company, and Captain Tremper succeeded his father, and for a long time was in active command of the steamer James W. Baldwin, which was then the latest of the New York night line steamers plying the Hudson.

Then as now, the night line steamers between Rondout and New York were devoted both to the freight and passenger business. Not only was passenger traffic heavy, but until the construction of the West Shore railroad and for many years thereafter, most of the freight shippers along the west bank of the river used the steamboats almost exclusively, so that the entire business of the company was very large and very profitable.

About 1900 the Central Hudson Steamboat Company was formed in Newburgh and acquired the Romer & Tremper Company by purchase, and shortly afterwards Captain Tremper retired from active business life, which he never resumed.

For twelve years in his younger life Captain Tremper was active in the New York State Militia. He received the appointment of Commissary of Subsistence under General Parker of the Eighth Brigade, with the rank of captain, and later as Inspector of Rifle Practice, with the rank of major. At the dissolution of the Eighth Brigade he served five years as Inspector of Rifle Practice under General Oliver of the Fifth Brigade.

In 1898 he was nominated on the Republican ticket for assemblyman from the First district of Ulster county and was elected. He served in the assembly only one term.

Socially, Captain Tremper was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Free and Accepted Masons; Mount Herob Chapter, No. 75, Royal Arch Masons; Rendont Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar; Mecca Temple, 52, Knights Templar; Shrine of New York, and the Scottish Rite Masons of New York. For about twenty years he was one of the trustees of the Industrial Home, and for several years he was a director of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad Company.

The first National Bank of Rondout and the Rondout National Bank was a member of the First Dutch Church, in which he had served as deacon and elder.

Both Captain Tremper, the younger, and his father were natives of Kingston, his father having been born in the town of Catskill on Albany avenue near the city line. By hard work, unrelenting industry, strict integrity and sincere, energetic and persistent effort he rose from the humble walks of life to a position of prominence.

WHAT WE HAVE TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Blessings and Mercies Enumerated by Pastor Schmidtke in the Spring
Street Lutheran Church—Our Country Spared the Ravages of War.

The services in the Spring Street German Lutheran Church on Sunday night were appropriate to the approach of Thanksgiving Day, and besides being deeply devotional were inspiring patriotic. The services were in English and were attended by a good-sized congregation. The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. A. Schmidtke, was an enumeration of "What We Have to Be Thankful For." Following the discourse, choir and congregation joined in singing with fervor, "God Bless Our Native Land," to the music of "America," which is also the tune of national anthems of Great Britain, France and Germany.

In beginning his sermon, the Rev. Mr. Schmidtke referred to the Thanksgiving proclamation of the President and said that next Thursday all good citizens will drop their business duties and attend services in their respective houses of worship, where they will give thanks to God for the manifold blessings and mercies He has vouchsafed them the past year. The blessings are countless, said the preacher; many of them are enjoyed from day to day without their being realized, but should the individual be deprived of them he would feel forsaken and unfortunate indeed. Mr. Schmidtke detailed some of the material blessings and mercies, and then referred to the spiritual grace which has been enjoyed by the church and the people and said this is a specially propitious time to make note of this, because this is the last Sunday of the ecclesiastical year. A new church year begins with the first Sunday in Trinity.

Of the national reasons for thanking the preacher spoke first of the rich and bountiful harvest—so bountiful that not only are the demands of the home market met but millions of bushels of grain are exported annually to Great Britain and other countries. "There could be failure of crops in many states without bringing us face to face with famine," said the pastor. "Should there be failure in the east, the west makes it up; should there be failure in the north, the harvests of the south will suffice."

The second of the reasons for national thanksgiving are the natural resources, with which God has so richly endowed this country; resources on which the operation of so many of our industries and the employment of so great a number of our laborers depend. "God has given us a goodly country," said the preacher, "but how many persons appreciate the greatness and importance of His gifts?"

Of the third reason for thanksgiving, the Rev. Mr. Schmidtke said: "Above all do we, as a nation, have cause for gratitude because our country has been and remains at peace with all nations. Liberty and prosperity have been our great national assets for many years. While war is raging in Europe, one nation after another being drawn into the conflict, it has been vouchsafed to us to remain in peace despite all difficulties and dangers that have faced us."

In conclusion the preacher said: "Our prayers should ascend to God to prevent us from being hardened, selfish, 'drunk' from the abundance of His blessings. That gratitude is most sincere which is accompanied by a confession of unworthiness."

The pastor urged that his hearers show their gratitude for mercies and blessings by deeds of kindness and helpfulness for the poor and needy.

The next English service in the Spring Street Church will be held the first Sunday night in December, when the theme of the sermon will be "The Last Harvest."

Closed on Thursday.

WILL MAKE TEST OF THEIR CASE

James B. Smedes, in behalf of himself and four friends, William Roosa, Freeman Sheeley, E. B. Fox and Frank A. Myers, all of the city, who were arrested on Tuesday, Nov. 16, near the Ashokan reservoir by Game Protector DeWitt for catching fish with their hands, instead of by angling, and who pleaded guilty when arraigned before a justice of the peace, told The Freeman today that they decided, following consultation with counsel, to make a test case of the matter. Mr. Smedes said his party took pickerel from a muck hole, as many other persons before them and since have done, and the fish could not have survived where they were and attorneys say they did not violate the law. The place where the fish were taken is not a natural stream, as the law specifies for catching of fish by angling. Mr. Smedes said he and his friends pleaded guilty through ignorance of the law. "As it was generally understood," he said, "that the Board of Water Supply considered it a favor to have the fish removed from the dumping ground at the outlet before they died and create a stench, we like many others went there for an outing and did not take any fish from the east basin as reported. Everybody has been catching them, with the result that the nearby populace have been salting them down in pork barrels."

Successful Musical Service.

St. James's Methodist Episcopal Church was crowded Sunday night, the occasion being a special Thanksgiving musical service. The Colonial Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Floyd Vogt, rendered a program of high grade music most creditably, which was deeply appreciated by the large congregation present. It is hoped that in the near future St. James's Church may have the privilege of another visit from the Colonial Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Vogt, who was in fine voice, sang an offertory, "All Hail Thee, 'Thanksgiving.'" Dr. Baragwanath spoke on "Some Special Reasons for Thanksgiving." Among these reasons were plentiful harvests, the return of prosperity, a president who is fair-minded and God-fearing, the fact that we have not been dragged into the war; we are in a position to aid the warring nations when the struggle is over, so we yet play a noble part in the great drama. Altogether it was a truly great service. Next Sunday night Dr. Baragwanath will speak on the question, "What is the Socialism of Jesus?" a live wire topic.

CAPTAIN JACOB H. TREMPER.

Tribute to a Man of the Rapidly Passing Type.

The death of Captain Jacob H. Tremper marks in a way the passing of a type of man—the twentieth century type of man—who represented the social life of the city. He was among the leading citizens of Ulster county in business, politics and society. In many ways he was intimately associated with the industrial development and growth of Kingston, and through his big summer hotel, his steamboat connections and other business activities aided in making the Catskill Mountains the famous summer resort they have since become.

He was successful without great wealth, well informed without great education, and powerful through no great political influence. His popularity was won through a strong personality backed by qualities of character which endeared him to a large number of people whose regard once attained, he held. He made friends readily and never lost them. He was shrewd in his business judgment with a high sense of honor in his dealings with other men. He had a kind and gentle heart, loving animals and children, who turned to him instinctively. Horses were his hobby. He loved them and was a splendid judge of the good points of an animal both on the race track and in the stable. At Saratoga in the heights of the racing days, Capt. Tremper was a familiar figure in the crowd, who frequented that famous resort. He owned many fine horses in those days, and his opinion and judgment were valued by horse lovers throughout the Hudson valley.

Capt. Tremper stood for a certain something in Kingston which is passing. He represented a type of man who saw all the great modern inventions born, and lived to see them perfected. He developed with the city where he spent his life and yet retained to the day of his death a manner of dress, mode of life and attitude toward other men which was oddly reminiscent of the days of a quarter of a century ago. This had nothing to do with his years, which were not so many, but was characteristic of the man himself.

Aside from the personal loss felt by many lifelong friends, Capt. Tremper's death will mean to many who knew him only by name, a distinct loss of something of the city's old life which the newer Kingston cannot soon replace.

CHARGES PAPERS WERE CHANGED

Accusation by Attorney Brown Against Board of Water Supply Subsequently Explained Before Business Damage Commission.

A direct charge that papers he had filed with the board of water supply of New York city has been altered was made by A. A. Brown, attorney for Edgar Palen, a farmer of Samserville, in the town of Olive, when the hearing of the case was resumed before Business Damage Commission No. 4 in the court house shortly before noon today. The commission, which consists of Chairman W. H. Gibson, Philip Elting and George Deyo, had adjourned the case from Friday, November 11, and when the hearing was resumed Mr. Palen took the stand.

Mr. Brown asked that the stenographer's minutes be corrected, claiming they were incorrect in many particulars. He moved that the minutes be read in the original claim filed with the commission the minute of action was stated at 400. The stenographer said he had copied the small figure from papers of the board of water supply office.

William McEl. Speer, for the city of New York, was disposed to question where the original claim stated there were 400 acres.

Mr. Brown here made the direct assertion that a paper he had filed with the board was tampered with to the extent of a "400" being erased and made into "40." "I don't understand what these kind of tactics by the city mean," said Mr. Brown.

Mr. Speer said the plaintiffs' attorney had better prove his charge, and the latter said he could.

It developed, in further argument, that Mr. Brown, after sending the original papers to the board of water supply office in which the acreage was stated to be 100, was requested to send copies and did so but in one or two instances a mistake was made in his office in the copying, so that the acreage was made "40," and it appeared the board has been guided by this.

"If the original claim said 400 acres, I have no objection to the paper being offered in evidence," said the city's attorney.

Palen seeks $3,000 indirect damages and $3,000 for damages to wood, produce, etc., as a result of the construction of the Ashokan reservoir.

WISE WORDS.

A Physician on Food.

A western physician has views about food. He says:

"I have always believed that the duty of a physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health especially by hygienic and dietetic laws.

"With such a feeling as to my duty I take great pleasure in saying that, in my experience and also from personal observation, I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence.

"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts. To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach especially at breakfast to start the machinery of the human system on the day's work.

"In cases of indigestion I know that a complete breakfast can be made of Grape-Nuts and cream, and I think it is necessary not to overload the stomach at the morning meal. I also know the great value of Grape-Nuts when the stomach is too weak to digest other food.

"This is written after an experience of more than 20 years treating all manner of chronic and acute diseases, and the letter is voluntary on my part without any request for it."

Special Kijkuit Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Kijkuit Club held at St. John's parish house, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock promptly. The members are urged to be present at this early hour in order that a brief business meeting may precede the work of making flowers for the coming Butterfly Ball to be given for the benefit of the Kingston City Hospital. Certain financial matters are to be attended to at the business session, which as stated before will be as brief as possible. Each young lady is asked to bring with her tomorrow evening, a pair of scissors for the work.

Circles of Mercy Wednesday.

Owing to Thanksgiving coming on Thursday, the Circles of Mercy will this week meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday morning, to continue the work of making surgical supplies for the war relief work. Additional gifts of old muslin, etc., will be most acceptable as such material is needed for coverings for pads of various sorts. The members of the circles will all be welcomed on Wednesday that all may assist in this work. At this time, the officers of the circles would publicly thank all persons who have contributed material or money for this splendid humanitarian work. As many donors left no names with their contributions, this is the only manner in which they may know of the appreciation, the very real appreciation of their gifts.

The Coterie.

A most interesting meeting of The Coterie was held on Saturday at the home of Miss Mabel Thompson. The general topic considered was that of "Women in Municipalities." Miss Huber had the first paper of the afternoon, "Women in Municipal House Keeping," being her subject. Calling attention to the many details of ordinary house keeping which the man of the house was seldom if ever observant of, Miss Huber found the same conditions in municipal house keeping, and showed that wherever women had taken hold of municipal work they had greatly improved the civic conditions. It was a woman who invented the dust cart. Another woman, making a paper model of a covered garbage cart, and perfecting the model, who was responsible for this sanitary method of carrying away such waste. Again a woman invented the trash can, such as we use in our own city. Once more, it was a woman who conceived and worked out to an economic success the idea of converting the waste of great cities into money, selling the same. The dust from such waste is made into bricks and the other refuse is converted into oil. The spitting ordinances, such preventive health measures, public play grounds, etc., are the results of women's municipal house keeping.

Mrs. Kingman had the second paper on "Police Women in America." This position was shown to be preventive rather than aggressive, especially protecting the young people in our dance halls, public parks, movies, etc. In New York city there are seventy-two police matrons but no police-woman. In the rest, however, the number of police-women is so large that they recently held a convention at Portland, Oregon, at the air. Olive Stebbins Wells of Los Angeles was the first police-woman, and an excellent account was given of both the woman and her work.

Mr. Posten's paper on "Are Police Women to be Opened to Women?" was the last for the afternoon. Mrs. Posten thought the question might rather have been "Are there any city offices not now open to women?" for there are city health officers, school superintendents, etc., almost an infinitum.

Chicago there are two women who are city judges. While the superintendent of schools in New York city is a man, Mrs. Ford has the entire charge of all supplies, handling some $40,000,000. She never sees, limits and supervises all this enormous expenditure. Then there was Commissioner Davis, known to all. In our own city we have four offices held by three women. Mrs. Michael is a member of the board of health, and also has the right to wear a police badge. Dr. Mary Gage-Day is medical inspector of schools, and Miss Mabel Thompson, visiting school nurse. In California was the first woman's court, it having judge, clerk, reporter and bailiff, all women. This court tried juvenile cases, and wherever possible guarded the youth, using preventive measures rather than prosecuting if possible. Each paper was exceptionally full of live interest to all present. The Coterie, like all the other women's clubs will assist in the making of butterflies for the coming Butterfly Ball, for the benefit of the Kingston City Hospital. The Saturday meeting closed with a social hour and the serving of delicious refreshments. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. O'Connor.

A surprise party was given Miss Sophia G. Kaplan at her home on Fair street last night. The spacious rooms served nicely for dancing, in which all participated, the music being furnished by the Misses Jeanette Kaplan, Sarah Silverman and Minnie Friedman. Vocal solos were rendered by the Misses Sophia G. Kaplan and Helen Stern. A buffet luncheon was served at a late hour. Sam Bernstein, Jr., acting as toastmaster. Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Longert, Sam Mann, Jack Smith, Sam Bernstein, Jr., Jacob Mollott, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Meyer Kaplan, Aaron Lipkin, Sophia Kaplan, Helen Stern, Sarah Silverman, Libbie Mollott, Jeanette Kaplan, Minnie Friedman, Sophia G. Kaplan, Rae Wolff and Mollie Muffson.

South American Industry.
The sap of the sapodilla tree is very largely used in the manufacture of chewing gum. The tree is cultivated in Mexico and Central America, and the method of collecting the sap, called "chicle," is very similar to that employed in extracting maple sugar. Mexico alone in 1910 exported chicle valued at $170,000, which will give you a good idea of the extent of the chewing gum industry.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER
(By Frank G. Menke.)
New York, Nov. 22.—Strenuous efforts will be made during the winter meeting of the National League to assassinate that rule which limits clubs to 21 men between May 1st and September 1st and bring into being in its place a 22 or 23 player rule.
The Giants will be the real agitators in the campaign against that rule. They were opposed to the rule when it was adopted last winter and the results of the experiment last season, in the case of the Giants was disastrous.
"A club could operate very nicely under the 21 men scheme if injuries or sicknesses didn't occur," said John B. Foster, secretary of the Giants, "but when misfortune comes a club is up against it if it is limited to 21 players only. Last season, for instance, we carried six infielders. That was all we were able to carry. At one time our third baseman, Lebert, and our first baseman, Merkle, were on the injured list. That forced us to play the only two utility infielders we had. Had anything happened to any of the four men who were playing we would have been in a very bad hole."

Baseball Salary List Huge.
A statistical fiend has just arrived at the conclusion that the ball players—big and little—shook down the club owners for over $7,000,000 in salaries last season, and that it cost nearly $2,000,000 more to provide meals, sleeping accommodations, railroad fare, etc. for the diamond envoyers.
There are 200 players in each of the three big leagues. Each drawing an average salary of $3,000, according to the figuring person. Anyone who multiplies 600 ball players by $3,000 will discover that the total is $1,800,000. In the minors under the protection of the National Commission—there were 5,500 players in 1915. The average salary for the gang was $1,000, which means that the bushers drew down $5,500,000 in salaries which added to $1,800,000 paid to the major leagues brings the salary total to $7,300,000.
The "fiend" averaged around $20,000 a season in computing traveling expenses for the 24 clubs in the three big leagues. That means $480,000. He averaged $5,000 for each of the 300 minor league clubs which made the minors total $1,500,000 for traveling. Add the $480,000 major league cost to that and the amount is approximately $2,000,000.

New Players Cost Yanks $60,000.
The new players acquired by Jake Rupperts so-called ball team have cost the owners something like $60,000. And right now Jake doesn't know whether they're worth $60,000—or 60 cents.
"I'm hopeful—that's all asserts Rupperts.
The price paid for Daniel Tiptle—$9,800—is the record expenditure for the Yanks. Tiptle was quite a pitcher last season while operating with the Indianapolis club in the American Association and great things are expected of him.
Rupperts parted with $8,500 to acquire Francis Gillhooley, the outfielder who was with the Buffalo Internationals last year. The pathetic

KINGSTON TEAM DEFEATS NEWBURGH
Newburgh failed to puncture the Kingston high school championship hopes on Saturday and all the territory along the Hudson from Troy to Newburgh is in the "hollow of our hand," as far as football supremacy is concerned. The score, 28-0, is the third one of similar character run up by the Kingstonians in succession.
The Newburghers played a scrappy game, pugilistically and "football-ly" speaking. Evidently they pinned high hopes on the game because they fought hard throughout and lost control of themselves when they realized they were beaten. Whenever there was a little increase in excitement, the crowd of rooters would join in the melee and it seemed certain that the features of some of the players would be dented seriously.
Kingston's touchdowns were made only after persistent marches down the field. Small, continuous gains off-tackle were the order of the day. Several long runs by Wheeler and a couple of forwards were the only changes from the line plunging of the Kingston backfield. In the face of a strong wind and from difficult angles Bernstein booted all four goals from touchdowns, bringing his record for successive goals to ten.
Newburgh's defense was weak but their attack was still weaker. They gained first down about five times, the oval being in Kingston's possession three-fourths of the time.
About three hundred were in attendance and a runner through a broken held had both spectators and players to contend with. Forty Kingstonians were among the rooters, going by autos and train.
That the game was hard played is shown by the fact that time was often called to remedy some injured player. Pehleman was forced to leave the contest because of injury.
The game was played under weather conditions more suitable for hockey than gridiron sport. A stiff breeze chilled the players and mud pdes were numerous.
Kingston, with the breeze at their backs, kicked off and the Newburghers advanced on an end run but a pass was incomplete. Wheeler punted out of bounds. After several short line plunges the Blue and Gold shot a forward pass which netted them fifteen yards. They worked the ball up to the thirty yard mark, where a goal from placement was attempted. Kingston blocked the kick and got the ball. Kingston's assortment of plays were brought into use with the result that Wheeler, Pehleman and Terwilliger slowly but steadily were advancing into the enemies' ranks. The ball was Kingston's on the Newburgh forty yard line when the first quarter ended.
Wheeler speeded around left end a fifteen yard gain. Joyce penetrated the other extremity for ten yards. Pehleman and Terwilliger worked the ball to the left flank for a gain and then Gregory was shoved over for the first touchdown. Bernstein's perfect kick made the score 7-0.
Newburgh received the kickoff and at once maneuvered a successful forward a few bucks at the "stone wall defence" and they punted to the twenty yard line. Kingston had worked the oval well past the middle of the field when time was called for the end of the second half.
Wheeler received the Newburgh kickoff and with one lone tackler between him and six points was tackled after a pretty run of fifty yards. Terwilliger shot through for ten yards. Johnson gained ten more on a run around end. Palist opened a space big enough for Pehleman to pass through. When within a few yards from the goal Wheeler squirmed through the seething mass for the second touchdown.
Pehleman recovered a Newburgh fumble on the kickoff but on the next play was hurt and Risy took his place. The latter crossed the line with the third touchdown and Bernstein's boot raised the count to 21-0.
Newburgh broke through the line for several big gains in the last period but could reach only the thirty yard line. Several long passes and successful line plunges put Kingston near enough for Wheeler to tally on the last down with three yards to gain.

CRESCENTS PLAY TONIGHT.
Great Interest in Their Game With Newburgh K. of C.
The followers of semi-professional basket ball, in this city, are showing an unusual interest in the game to be staged at Washington Hall on Abbe street this evening, when the local Crescent Club will clash with the famous Knights of Columbus team of Newburgh. The Knights are coming to this city with a high-class reputation. Several prominent men of Kingston who have seen them in action say that they play the fastest game to be witnessed outside of professional ball, and that they could easily dispose of several of the teams, who have played at the Armory as representatives of cities in the Inter-State League. In the Newburgh line-up will be the Wallace brothers, forwards, who have played the game with Cornell College, J. Canning, a last center man, while Lamming and Graney will take care of the guard positions. Graney for several years was extra man for the last Trenton team in the Pennsylvania-New Jersey League. "Jud" Galloway, the manager of the team, will be the extra man. The Crescents will have their regular men with Dittus, Robinson and Fox, forwards, Spait, center, and Grobe, Barnard and Butler, guards. Manager Binkoff of Washington Hall and also manager of the Crescents, has made arrangements to handle what is expected to be the largest crowd that has ever attended an event in the hall, as the regular fans will be in evidence and in addition over a hundred members of the local branch of the Knights are expected to be present.
The game will start promptly at 8:30 p. m. and McLeon's orchestra who have made such a hit with the dancing public, will furnish the music for the dancing which will follow the game. A good time is assured to all who are in attendance.

Wheeler received the Newburgh kickoff and with one lone tackler between him and six points was tackled after a pretty run of fifty yards. Terwilliger shot through for ten yards. Johnson gained ten more on a run around end. Palist opened a space big enough for Pehleman to pass through. When within a few yards from the goal Wheeler squirmed through the seething mass for the second touchdown.
Pehleman recovered a Newburgh fumble on the kickoff but on the next play was hurt and Risy took his place. The latter crossed the line with the third touchdown and Bernstein's boot raised the count to 21-0.
Newburgh broke through the line for several big gains in the last period but could reach only the thirty yard line. Several long passes and successful line plunges put Kingston near enough for Wheeler to tally on the last down with three yards to gain.
